Members of the American Guild of Organists are bound by the Code of Ethics and guided by the Code of Professional Standards

CODE OF ETHICS

Approved by the National Council April 23, 2001

PREAMBLE: The purpose of the American Guild of Organists is to promote the organ in its historic and evolving roles, to encourage excellence in the performance of organ and choral music, and to provide a forum for mutual support, inspiration, education, and certification of Guild members. Voting members are entitled to enjoy the privileges and are expected to accept responsibilities of membership in the Guild. Members shall be considered equally for Guild offices and participation in Guild activities. These are the rules that shall be considered binding upon all voting members in good standing.

RULE 1: Members shall promote good working relationships within the American Guild of Organists and shall respect the employment of colleagues. Members shall address differences between themselves and other members by following the procedures outlined in the Discipline.

RULE 2: Members shall not seek or appear to be seeking employment for themselves, a student, or a colleague, in a position held by someone else. Members shall apply for employment only for a position which the employer, with the knowledge of the incumbent musician, has officially and publicly declared vacant by announcement of the vacancy.

RULE 3: In cases pending under the Procedures or in cases where the National Council has determined that a position has been made vacant by wrongful termination of a member of the American Guild of Organists, members shall not seek or accept regular or permanent employment for themselves, a student, or colleague at that institution until the National Council is satisfied that differences between the Guild and the institution have been resolved. Interim services may be provided for a period of 90 days.

RULE 4: Before accepting an engagement for a wedding, funeral, or other service, members shall obtain the approval of the incumbent musician. In cases where this engagement has been requested by a third party, it is appropriate for the third party to offer the incumbent his/her customary fee. It is the responsibility of members to inform the third party of this rule.

RULE 5: Members shall conduct professional activities with truthfulness, honesty, and integrity, and shall maintain sensitivity in matters of a personal or confidential nature.

RULE 6: Members shall not discriminate against others on the basis of race, national origin, age, religious affiliation, gender, marital status, sexual orientation, disability, or medical condition (including, but not limited to, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome).

LOUISVILLE CHAPTER PRIVACY POLICY

It is the policy of the Louisville Chapter – American Guild of Organists (hereafter, Louisville Chapter) to not share member telephone/fax numbers, email addresses, or postal addresses with an vendor or outside agency for solicitation of sale of goods or services.

On certain occasions, the Louisville Chapter may share member email addresses and/or postal mailing addresses with professional organizations, institutions, or their individual representative(s), on a one-time use basis. Each request must be reviewed and the following conditions met:

- The purpose of the request is solely to provide information about workshops seminars, master classes, meetings, festivals, conventions, or other events which may be of interest to members.
- The organization, institution, or individual representative making the request must not share the information with any other vendor, professional organization, or individual for any reason without prior consent of the Louisville Chapter, and must purge the information after the one-time use.

The Louisville Chapter, likewise, will respect and follow the privacy policies of other institutions and organizations from which it requests mailing addresses and/or email addresses.

Louisville Chapter members may request, at any time, that their contact information not be shared with any organization, institution, or individual and be used solely for chapter communication.

CHECK HERE IF YOU DO NOT WANT YOUR INMFORMATION SHARED: ____

PLEASE NOTE: The National Headquarters of the AGO provides member telephone numbers and email addresses upon request to other AGO members only. Postal mailing lists may be rented for one-time use by other organizations, but these mailing must be inspected and approved by the Executive Director. Louisville Chapter members who are concerned about the sharing of their information by AGO national headquarters should contact the national Membership Coordinator by telephone (consult TAO) or through the AGO website: www.agohq.org.
